HARPER'S MAGAZINE. NEW BOOKS.

JANUARY, 1891.

In this number, CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER, in a paper of great practical value, describes "The Outlook in Southern California." Many illustrations of scenery and interesting objects in the fruit-growing regions of California accompany the paper. The very popular series of illustrated articles on South America is resumed by Mr. CHILD in this number, giving his "Impressions of Peru." F. ANSTEY contributes an article on "London Music Halls," which is illustrated from a number of drawings by JOSEPH PENNELL. In "Another Chapter of My Memoirs," M. DE BLOWITZ tells how he became a journalist, and relates some interesting reminiscences of the Franco-Prussian War and the days of the Paris Commune. The chief place in fiction is given to the opening chapters of Charles Egbert Craddock's new novel, "In the 'Stranger People's' Country," illustrated by W. T. SMEDLEY. "At the 'Casa Napoléon'" is a story of Life in the Spanish Quarter of New York City, written by THOMAS A. JANVIER, and illustrated by SMEDLEY. "A Modern Legend" is a beautiful short story by VIVA D. SCUDDER. "Saint Anthony—a Christmas Eve Ballad," by Mrs. E. W. LATIMER, is accompanied by three striking illustrations from drawings by C. S. REINHART. Several other choice poems are included. The usual variety of subjects is discussed in the Editorial Departments, conducted by GEORGE WILLIAM CURTIS, WILLIAM DEAN HOWELLS and CHARLES DUDLEY WARNER.

NOTES IN SEASON.

HARPER & BROS. will publish shortly Lamb's "Tales from Shakespeare's Comedies," annotated by Dr. W. J. Rolfe, with a view, in part, to its serving as an introduction to Shakespeare.

HOUGHTON, MIFFLIN & Co. will issue early next year a one-volume edition of Lowell's "Biglow Papers," with all the notes prepared for the new edition of Lowell's complete works; "A Psalm of Death, and Other Poems," by Dr. S. Weir Mitchell; and "Francis Wayland," in the series of American Religious Leaders, by Prof. James O. Murray, of Princeton.

JOEL MUNSELL'S SONS, Albany, N. Y., announce an edition of one hundred copies of the original "Mother Goose's Melody," as first issued by John Newbery, of London, about A.D. 1760, reproduced in fac-simile from the edition as reprinted by Isaiah Thomas, Worcester, Mass., about A.D. 1785. The volume will have introductory notes by William H. Whitmore, and 28 pages of historical and bibliographical notes, in addition to the original work in fac-simile, which consists of 96 pages.

D. LOTHROP COMPANY publish this week "Songs of the Southland," by Miss S. F. Price; "Songs of Life," by Francis E. Marston; and the new edition of Austin Phelps' book, "The Still Hour," with a new closing chapter added by Prof. Phelps just before his death. They announce as among the first books of 1891, to appear early in January, "Miss Dee Dunmore Bryant," by Pansy; "Ways and Means," by Rev. F. E. Clark, D.D., and "A Modern Exodus," by Faye Huntington.

FLEMING H. REVELL has in press a second volume of sermons by the Rev. John McNeill, the "Scottish Spurgeon." The first volume, issued a few months ago, is said to have had an unusually good sale, and the sale of the forthcoming volume is expected to fall in no way behind. Mr. Revell has nearly ready a "Syllabus of Old Testament History," by Prof. Ira M. Price, of the Theological Seminary at Morgan Park, Ill. It is a chronological analysis of the history in the Old Testament, with copious references to the best and latest literature on contemporaneous history.

THE UNITED STATES BOOK COMPANY have just ready two new volumes by Rudyard Kipling which they have added to their Westminster Series under the titles of "Under the Deodars" and "The Light that Failed," the first efforts of this popular writer at a long novel. In the same series there is a new novel by B. L. Farjeon, called "Merry, Merry Boys." Two important contributions to contemporary literature are Richard le Gallienne's estimate of "George Meredith, Novelist and Poet," with excellent bibliography by John Lane; and "Letters to Living Authors" by J. A. Steuart, illustrated with portraits of the different authors. Of the latter there is also a limited édition de luxe.

CHARLES L. WOODWARD, 78 Nassau Street, N. Y., receives subscriptions for "the articles, humorous, entertaining, wise and otherwise, contained in the Almanacs of Nathaniel Ames, of Dedham, Mass., which were a popular form of literature in the Colonies, 1726-1764, which publications were continued by his son, of the same name, 1765-1775." Nathaniel Ames was a physician and tavern-keeper at Dedham, and the father of an interesting family of children, among whom were Fisher Ames, a noted Massachusetts lawyer and statesman and a prominent Federal politician, and Nathaniel Ames, a physician and almanac maker, opposed to his brother in politics, being a Jeffersonian of the most uncompromising sort. The book will be edited by Samuel Briggs, Vice-President Western Reserve and Northern Ohio Hist. Soc., Corresponding Member Rhode Island Hist. Soc. and of the Dedham [Mass.] Hist. Soc. It will contain about 400 pages, and will be interspersed with appropriate illustrations.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc.) is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p. in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

- Adams, J: Coleman, D. D. Christian types of heroism: a study of the heroic spirit under Christianity. Bost., Universalist Pub. House, 1891 [1890.] c. 3-208 p. D. cl., 75 c.
The author points out "types" among the martyrs, the apologists, the hermits and monks, the prelates and knights, the reformers, the missionaries, the philanthropists and the statesmen who have lived in history. Among the greatest Christian statesmen he counts Abraham Lincoln and William E. Gladstone.
- Alarcón, Pedro A. de. The strange friend of Tito Gil; from the Spanish, by Mrs. Francis J. A. Darr. N. Y., A. Lovell & Co., [1890.] c. tr. 2-133 p. il. S. cl., $1.
The strange friend of Tito Gil is Death. Tito was a shoemaker by trade, adopted by a rich count and cast out by his countess. He loves a noble maiden, and when separated from her commits suicide. The history of six hundred years is compressed in the weird little story, which ends with the day of judgment, when the spirits of Tito and Elena enter the Promised Land.

- Black, W: Stand fast, Craig-Royston: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1890. 3+439 p. D. (Harper's Franklin sq. lib., new series, no. 688.) pap., 50 c.
Old Mr. Bethune imagines himself the descendant of an ancient Scotch family, whose motto for centuries has been "Stand fast, Craig-Royston." He is engaged in getting up a work on Scotch ballad poetry, and imagines he has squandered a fortune. He feels the world owes him a living, and, greatly to his granddaughter Maisie's mortification, he accepts favors from all sides. The plot enables Black to introduce quotations from Scotch literature with artistic effect. The romantic interest is slight but tender and pretty. The descriptions of Scotch scenery, manners and customs are elaborated with exquisite care.
- Blunt, Rev. J: J. Undesigned coincidences in the writings of both the Old and New Testaments; introd. by T. Sanderson, D.D. N. Y., Wilbur B. Ketcham, 1890. 10+361 p. 12°, cl., $1.50.

- Chiswell, (Archdeacon.) The slave prince: a tale for boys. N. Y., Brentano's, 1890. il. 8°, (Young hopeful ser.) cl., $1.50.
- Church, Rev. Alfred J. A young Macedonian in the army of Alexander the Great. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1891 [1890.] 6+325 p. il. D. cl., $1.25.
A vivid description of the Olympian games ushers in the story and introduces the heroes, a young Greek and a Macedonian, who have been contesting the prize in the boys' foot-race. The Macedonian gains the prize, but his adversary challenging his right to it as a "barbarian" he is obliged to yield it. When, some years after, the Macedonian at the destruction of Thebes, had his opportunity for revenge, he spares the Theban. The two young men become ardent friends and follow Alexander through his long series of conquests in Persia, Egypt and Palestine. The narrative abounds in local color, and the character of Alexander, in both its strength and weakness, is admirably portrayed.
- Clare, Austin. Crooked S: a tale for girls. N. Y., Brentano's, 1890. il. 8°, (Young maiden ser.) cl., $1.50.
- Clarke, Sir E: Sir Edward Clarke (Her Majesty's Solicitor-General), public speeches, 1880-

The articles on the Bible which appeared in the Sunday-School Times. Mr. Gladstone's advocacy of the orthodox view challenges the position taken by Mr. Huxley and the agnostic or so-called scientific school. The story of the Creation, the sketch of the Old Testament, the meaning of the Psalms and the chief points of the Mosaic legislation are set forth. Mr. Gladstone does not think the Bible can be dethroned from the position it has so long held in the estimation of Christendom.

A love-tale, with a picturesque setting. Dorothy Gray is an attractive, well-poised woman. She has always lived at Glenholm, the farm at which Roger Leland, the artist, and his city friends are passing the summer. Dorothy wins Roger's love; but aside from the love-story there are many discussions about art and its true aim.

- Hancock, Anson Uriel. The genius of Galilee: an historical novel. Chic., C. H. Kerr & Co., 1891 [1890.] 2-507 p. D. cl., $1.50.
- The author writes of Jesus as the genius of Galilee, introducing many characters supposed to inhabit the lake village 1900 years ago. He says the world is bound to move heavenward, just the same as though the bulwark of traditional religion had never been assailed; just the same with Jesus as the genius, as with Christ, the divine second person of the Godhead. Epilogue gives authorities on which the writer founds his conception of Christ's life in Galilee.

- Hawthorne, Julian. Pauline. N. Y., United States Book Co., [1890.] c. 2-280 p. D. (American authors' ser., no. 25.) pap., 50 c.
- "Pauline," "Ellice Quentin" and "The countess's ruby" are three separate studies of women's hearts. Pauline is a great singer, who finally abandons the stage for a quiet home as the wife of a portrait painter. Ellice Quentin gives up her love for social position. The Countess Almara, a beautiful pagan, makes havoc of the lives of two Boston men, who are friends, by a flirtation, in which a ruby ring plays a sensational rôle.

- Kilbon, G: B. Knife work in the school-room. Springfield, Mass., Milton Bradley Co., [1890.] c. 60 p. il. D. cl., 50 c.
- For those between the ages of seven and thirteen there is no satisfactory course of manual work arranged, and the object of this treatise is to make some suggestions that may help solve the difficulty. The problems described, being designed for the first year of the four years' course, have been experimentally tried in some of the Springfield schools. The knife course was first introduced into the grammar grades to give the boys something to do while the girls were taking their weekly sewing lesson.

- The author expects of his readers the difficult mental gymnastics required to understand his "Indications of the Book of Job." By an ingenious system as diagrams he shows the salient points of the work of creation and
- fall of man. He believes the labors of Jesus Christ as the subjugator of the human race commenced with the fall of the first man of Adam's race, but that his labors as the Son of man as Redeemer commenced from the day of Abraham. His system of chronology and periods of time is also most intricate.

- Leggett, M. D. A dream of a modest prophet. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1890 c. 207 p. D. cl., $1.
- A story of a supposed visit to the planet Mars. The author finds Mars much smaller than the earth but inhabited by twice as many people. Everybody is found in robust health and with a contented mind. No large cities curse this model world. Everybody is ambitious and industrious and wonderfully temperate in eating and drinking. The laws of heredity have been studied and a perfect race is the result. The modest prophet learned much that would improve the Earth.

- Jean Peyral, a peasant of Cévennes, dons the uniform of a Spahi when he enters the French army. His regiment is quartered for a time at Saint Louis, Africa, where glimpses of the barracks, the life of the native Africans, and the dissolute conduct of the Spahis make a suitable background for Jean's sensuous African romances. Peyral finally exchanges places with a comrade. The result of this is a tragic incident, which ends a novel by the author of "An Icelandic fisherman."

- Dr. Baaja, deprived by a physical blemish of the privilege of mingling in society, found solace in studying books treating of the undeveloped occult force in man and nature. He discovered that in the blood lies the cause of all that has been achieved by the human family. The masculine and feminine principles are represented by the red and white corpuscles. In his practice he transfuses healthy blood into a dying man, who recovers but finds his whole nature changed by the new blood in his veins.

In a romantic English West Country parish a gifted painter wins the love of a fisherman's beautiful daughter. She follows him to London and he lives with her for several years. She is faithfully devoted to him and resorts to every device to earn bread and butter for him when he is sick and ill-paid. He founds a school of realistic art, becomes instructor, and there meets a girl student who embodies his highest ideal. The author of "Col. Enderby's wife" and "Mrs. Lorimer" is rarely gifted in the dissection of woman's motives, aspirations and love, and with her rich material works out several domestic and social problems with skill and independent courage.

Sadler A. Tann, the hero of this story, was His Satanic Majesty, the Devil. The author says: "As far as my judgment goes, a most estimable gentleman and a worthy fellow in every way. His unvarying good humor and honest simplicity made him a favorite with all of us." Faust is a young American travelling on the continent, who in the old university town of Nuremberg meets S. A. Tann, and by him is led into various kinds of good and bad society. From April to October they sojourned together, and then the immortal fiend vanished, promising never to reappear. Faust is now a happy married man on Fifth Avenue, N. Y. City.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

DECEMBER 27, 1890.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter, whether for the reading-matter columns or our advertising pages, should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

In case of business changes, notification or card should be immediately sent to this office for entry under "Business Notes." New catalogues issued will also be mentioned when forwarded.

"Every man is a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help thereunto."—LORD BACON.

THE book trade, with the rest of the community, has reached the end of another year, and, unlike many other lines of business, is in a position to congratulate itself over as satisfactory a year as could be wished for. Reports from all the large cities, East and West, are unanimous in the verdict that this has been decidedly the best holiday season in years. We trust that when the accounts are footed up after the yearly stock-taking, which comes in most cases with January 1, this verdict will be approved. The year also has been unattended by any serious failure, or the demoralization that cut so seriously into the book business of the last two years. On the whole we may feel encouraged. The outlook, too, for the new year has many elements of encouragement. Copyright seems to be assured, and though the measure awaiting the action of the Senate does not meet with the approval of some (no bill would be likely to receive unanimous welcome), we feel that it will help to smooth out many of the rough places over which the trade in the past has had to drag its weary, suffering way. And gradually the dawn of a better day will brighten the horizon.

EVERY effort has been made by the bibliographical department of the office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY this year to make the Weekly Record of New Books as complete as possible. Its efforts have been approximately successful, and the Supplementary Lists which have hitherto disfigured our "Annual Catalogue" will be omitted. Any titles for 1890 reported after the issue of this number of the WEEKLY will be filed away for publication in the next five-yearly supplement of the "American Catalogue." It is our ambition to make our bibliographical helps as nearly perfect as possible. To attain this we spare neither labor nor expense; but these alone cannot achieve our purpose—we still need the co-operation of the publishing trade to assist us in making our lists as complete as we would have them. It is a small matter for every house to see that all its publications are promptly reported for record—it is next to impossible for us to keep watch on every book issued. We trust that in time publishers will recognize the importance to themselves, from a purely mercantile point of view, of having this feature of their business carefully looked after. So much has been done in this direction during the past ten years that we do not despair of seeing our ideal fully realized in time.

THE ANNUAL CATALOGUE for 1890, which forms the continuation of the forthcoming volume of the "American Catalogue," will be through the press, we hope, next month. We may say without egotism, that no such complete annotated trade catalogue is published anywhere in the world. Not only has it present value as a help to selling books, but in years to come it will form collectively the best handy survey of the literature of this country. The early volumes are already out of print; the few remaining copies of the last two years will also be exhausted shortly. Those desiring supplies would therefore do well to register their orders in time.

THE Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association of New York City again claims our attention on behalf of its worthy charity. Every year the Association provides care and medical attendance for upwards of thirty thousand deserving individuals at the hospitals and through the dispensaries and out-door departments connected with these institutions. The amount annually collected by the Association goes directly to the care-taking of the sick poor, and is especially devoted to the free treatment of those recommended by contributors to its fund. Contributions from the trade will be received by Mr. Charles Lanier, Treasurer of the Hospital Saturday and Sunday Association, 17 Nassau Street, New York.

SUPPLEMENT TO THE LEXICON OF THE BOOK LOVER.

MR. GEORGE H. ELLWANGER, in his exceedingly interesting book "The Story of My House," recently published by D. Appleton & Co., contributes the following to the vocabulary of the bibliophile:

Bibliodæmon: a book-fiend or demon.
Bibliophage,
Bibliocataphage, { a book-eater or devourer.
Bibliotelet.
Bibliopollyon, { a book-destroyer, ravager or waster.
Bibliophthor.
Biblioloigos: a book pest or plague.
Bibliolestes,
Biblioklept, { a book-plunderer or robber.
Bibliocharybdis: a charybdis of books.
Biblioriptos: one who throws books around.

Mr. Ellwanger's book contains four chapters that may be read with interest and profit by the bookseller as well as the book-lover.

COPYRIGHT CASES.

D. APPLETON & Co. recently discovered that a volume of about 240 pages, entitled "Financial and Commercial New York" (purporting to be issued by "The Evans Publishing and Engraving Co." of Philadelphia) contained upwards of forty illustrations made for "Appletons' New York Illustrated." The piratical pamphlet is not for sale, but is distributed gratuitously by firms in New York, who have bought copies, some fifty and some as many as two hundred, as consideration for advertising, biographical sketches and commendatory notices. Failing to discover the printer or ostensible publisher of the book, the Appletons are applying for injunctions to restrain the various firms advertising in it from distributing the publication. This will probably bring its career to a close.

A JURY before Justice Patterson, in the Supreme Court, New York, December 18, brought in a verdict for $3398.98 in favor of John Hardy, in his suit against the city for extra expenses in connection with his compilation of the "Manual of the Corporation of the City of New York, by John Hardy, Clerk of the Common Council." The manual was copyrighted in 1871. Assistant Corporation Counsel Dean raised the point that the old city charter provided that no officer of the city government should receive any compensation except his salary. Justice Patterson reserved his decision upon that point.

THE ENCYCLOPÆDIA BRITANNICA REPRINT IN CANADA.—The fight of the Blacks against the reprinters of their Encyclopædia Britannica has been carried into Canada. On the 17th inst. the Collector of Customs at Winnipeg, seized a number of sets of the pirated edition. The Department of Justice of the Dominion has decided that all the volumes of the encyclopædia are liable to be confiscated if they contain any articles copyrighted by an English author or publisher.

OBITUARY NOTES.

THE Rev. Robert Dick, inventor of the Dick mailing machine, temperance lecturer and publisher, died in Buffalo, N. Y., December 16, aged seventy-six years.

ADOLPHE BELOT, the French dramatist, and author of "Les Etrangleurs de Paris," "Châtiment," etc., died in Paris December 18. He was born at La Pointe-à-Pitre, Island of Grande-Terre, French West Indies, November 6, 1829.

THE death of Mr. A. L. Sieghortner robs the book trade in New York and those who visit here of an old friend. Mr. Sieghortner was a Boniface of the old school, supervising in person every detail of his restaurant. His kindly and cheery welcome will be missed by all who were entertained by him. He was born in Switzerland, and came to this country in 1847, beginning his career as waiter in the old Delmonico hostelry in Beaver Street, New York. He opened a restaurant at No. 9 Lafayette Place, where George Routledge & Sons' present headquarters, where the larger part of his patrons were members of the book trade. For a number of years he furnished the Semi-Annual Trade Sale Dinner. Some years ago he removed to No. 32 Astor Place, to which attaches many pleasant reminiscences of occasions made more enjoyable for the presence of the host.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

A MOVEMENT is afoot to raise money for a monument to mark the grave of Audubon, the eminent naturalist, in Trinity Cemetery, New York.

NICHOLAS P. GILMAN, author of "Profit-Sharing between Employer and Employee," is engaged upon a new work, entitled "Socialism and the American Spirit."

THE ex-Emperor Dom Pedro has nearly completed a Portuguese translation of "The Arabian Nights." It is understood to have been made from Lady Burton's revised version of her husband's edition.

CHAPLAIN W. H. MILBURN (the "Blind Preacher") is finishing, with the assistance of Mr. Charles Burr Todd, a volume entitled "The Mississippi Valley—chapters on its explorers, pioneers, preachers and people." The later chapters will be full of reminiscences and anecdote.

A. L. O. E. (Miss Tucker), one of the best-known of modern English writers for young people, is engaged in mission work in a city of Northern India. She is described as a charming old lady, living in a pretty little cottage, and spending the larger part of her days in visiting, praying and singing with the women of the Zenanas.

PERSONAL NOTES.

MR. B. M. CORYELL, formerly with the Western News Company and recently with Belford, Clarke & Co., has just assumed the charge of the selling department of the United States Book Company.

WILLIAM S. LEGGAT, Jr., connected with the firm of Leggat Brothers, New York, was alighting from a New Haven train in Mt. Vernon at 9 o'clock, Wednesday night, December 24, to go to his home on Fifth Avenue in that village, when the train started suddenly and threw him to the ground. The wheels ran over one of his feet, crushing it at the instep. Mr. Leggat was driven to his home, where he was attended by Dr. Banning.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

THE [London] Publishers' Circular after the first week in January will appear weekly instead of fortnightly, having been published twice a month for fifty-three years. The Circular issued its holiday number as a quarto, instead of its regular octavo shape.

THE Scotts Observer will be known henceforth under the title of The National Observer. It will continue, as heretofore, to be published as a weekly, simultaneously in London and Edinburgh. The staff of the journal, with W. E. Henley as editor, remains unaltered.

MR. DE BLOWITZ, the famous correspondent of the London Times, will contribute another chapter of his memoirs to Harper's Magazine for January. In telling how he became a journalist he will relate many interesting reminiscences of the Franco-Prussian War and of the downfall of the Paris Commune in 1871.

TRUE to its policy of treating the most timely questions of public interest by the men most closely identified with them, The North American Review will publish in its January number an article on "The Future of the Indian Question," by General Nelson A. Miles, and an article on the "Irish Question," by Mr. Lecky, the historian.

THE hand of the new editor of The Atlantic Monthly is shown in the January number by the arrangement which replaces the department known as Books of the Month by a more extended "Comment on New Books." "The Contributors' Club" is also enlarged in range and extent, and forms a new department at the end of the magazine.

THE Monist (philosophical quarterly) for January, 1891, will contain: "The Architecture of Theories," by Charles S. Peirce; "Illustrative Studies in Criminal Anthropology"—(1) "La Bête Humaine" and "Criminal Anthropology," (2) "Psychiatry and Criminal Anthropology," (a) "Secretions of Criminals," (b) "Power of Smell," (c) "Taste," (d) "Walk," (e) "Gestures," (f) "Morphological Anomalies—Skeleton, Skull, Wrinkles," (g) "Tattooing," by Prof. Cesare Lombroso; "The Squaring of the Circle," the history of the problem from the most ancient times to the present day, by Hermann Schubert; "The Criterion of Truth," a dissertation on the method of verification, by Dr. Paul Carus; "Five Souls with but a Single Thought," the psychology of the star-fish, by Carus Sterne; "German Philosophy in the Nineteenth Century," by Prof. Friedrich Jodl; besides the regular departments of book reviews, etc. (The Open Court Pub. Co., Chicago.)

AMONG the features of The Forum for next year will be: "Results of the Census," a series of articles by Gen. Francis A. Walker; results of the latest research and of the most recent achievements in all important lines of work, in science and in industry, by specialists; for examples, Dr. Austin Flint will write on "Dr. Koch's Discovery;" Dr. Richard Gatling on the "Development of Fire-Arms;" Frank H. Cushing on "The Hemenway Expedition;" Gaston Tissandier, the French scientist, "Dirigeable Balloons;" Prof. Emile de Laveleye on "The Partition of Africa," and so on; political discussions by the leaders of opinions of both parties in the United States, and by foreign statesmen; "Shibboleths of the Time," a series of critical examinations of popular opinions, by W. S. Lilly, the British essayist; autobiographical essays, a series to which some of the most noted men of the time, American and British, have already contributed; discussions of social and religious problems in the United States; and literary articles, discussing the tendencies of literary work along all directions of activity, by the foremost critical writers.

HEARD IN TWENTY-THIRD STREET.—In bookstore No. 1. Lady: "Have you the Apocrypha bound separately?" Clerk: "Never heard of it, madam."—In bookstore No. 2. Lady: "Have you the Apocrypha bound separately?" Clerk: "Well, really, I don't know, madam. You had better inquire in another department. I wait on Bibles."

A GOOD WORKING COMBINATION. — First Drummer: I came across a peculiar firm out West, composed of a stationer and a doctor. Second Drummer: I suppose the stationer tries to sell books and the doctor binds his wounds.—American Stationer.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BROOKFIELD, MO.—C. E. Z. Turner, bookseller, it is reported, has made an assignment.

CHICAGO, ILL.—Henry D. Chapin is again located in the old book business at 128 South Halsted Street. He will be glad to receive catalogues from all book-dealers.

CINCINNATI, O.—The Thomson Book Co. has succeeded to the book business of S. C. Cox & Co.

CINCINNATI, O.—E. C. Stevens (George E. Stevens & Co.), bookseller, according to the American Stationer, has made an assignment.

COLUMBIA, MO.—Gordon & Chandler, booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

COLUMBUS, O.—Hammond & Son, booksellers have sold their store at Newark, O., and will establish themselves here in January next.

DENVER, COL.—W. H. Lawrence & Co., booksellers, Denver, Col., advertise to sell out.

ELLENVILLE, N. DAK.—H. H. Christianson, bookseller, intends closing out his business.

HENDERSON, KY.—Gavin Norment has purchased the stock of M. F. Holloway, bookseller and stationer.

HERINGTON, KAN.—F. Grimes, bookseller, is going out of business.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND.—We are pleased to hear that The Bowen-Merrill Company is now definitely settled in new quarters on West Washington Street. The building is 33 x 195 feet, four stories high, with a total floor space of 25,740 square feet. The basement is devoted to the wholesale paper department, which extends the full length of the building. The first floor is the retail salesroom. It is artistically and luxuriously fitted up, one of the features of the decoration being a cheerful fireplace. Suitable engravings adorn the walls, comfortable chairs are provided; in fact, all the advantages of an inviting reading-room are to be found about this snug chimney corner. In the centre of this floor are arranged long rows of showcases, stocked with select lines of books. The law-book department, with its thousands of carefully selected authorities and reports, is a special and important feature. In the various other departments every style and variety of book is shown, while the school-book department presents an attractive display. The second floor is devoted to the wholesale department exclusively; the third to the shipping department and storeroom, while the fourth, or last floor, is the receiving and distributing department.

KANSAS CITY, KAN.—C. P. Dana, bookseller and stationer, has gone out of business.

LA CROSSE, WIS.—W. S. Hanscomb's stock of books and stationery was sold out at sheriff's sale, December 6.

MUSCATINE, IA.—Thos. H. Fitzgerald has sold out his stock of books and stationery.

NEW YORK CITY.—S. Field McLean, recently with Fleming H. Revell, has "booked" himself in a venture of his own at 775 Broadway. Mr. McLean, besides acting as New York agent for McDonald, Gill & Co., of Boston, will push the latest live volumes in evangelical literature. Catalogues of the various religious houses will be welcomed.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA.—W. R. Dye & Co. booksellers, have sold out.

POTTSTOWN, PA.—A. Evans and Horace A. Custer, booksellers, were burned out on December 13.

SAGINAW, MICH.—E. St. John's bookstore was damaged by fire, December 8.

SAN DIEGO, CAL.—O. W. Mack, bookseller, advertises to sell out his stock.

SEATTLE, WASH.—The Seattle Book Company has just opened up a handsome store at 719 Second Street, in the Hinckley block, having lately removed from 214 Cherry Street. Mr. S. F. Street, the manager of this firm, settled in Seattle three years ago, and up to the time of the fire was with Mr. G. S. Davies, in his well-known bookstore on Front Street. After the fire he opened a small store on the corner of Third and University Streets, under the firm-name of The Seattle Book Company, and about six months ago moved to 214 Cherry Street, from which place he removed to his present location. Their line will be miscellaneous books, fine stationery, blank-books, school and office supplies, and they will make specialties of Sunday-school and church supplies, gospel hymns and Chautauqua books.

SPARTA, MICH.—W. E. Hinman, bookseller, is closing out his business.

TACOMA, WASH.—E. C. Vaughn & Co., booksellers, have removed from 1203 to 926 Pacific Avenue, where they have much more desirable quarters.

TRINIDAD, COL.—W. E. Lawler has removed his bookstore from Superior, Neb., to this place.

TWO RIVERS, WIS.—Fred. C. Hartung, bookseller, is closing out his stock.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

THE UNIVERSALIST PUBLISHING HOUSE, Boston, have just published "Christian Types of Heroism: a study of the heroic spirit under Christianity," by John Coleman Adams, D.D.

GINN & Co. have just ready "Quintus Curtius," the first two extant books, edited for sight-reading by Dr. Harold N. Fowler, of Phillips Exeter Academy, with an introduction on reading at sight by Prof. James B. Greenough, of Harvard College. They will publish next February a work on "Mechanism and Personality," by Prof. Francis A. Shoup.

OF the beautiful volume entitled "Ada Rehan, a study, by William Winter," the Tribune says, "only too copies are being printed. One of its five chapters—the one relating to Miss Rehan's four London seasons—has been prepared by Justin H. McCarthy, and contains several of his poems about the actress. The book is to be privately printed and is illustrated with twenty-four portraits of Miss Rehan."

THE "Standard Dictionary of the English Language," which Funk & Wagnalls have in preparation, is announced to contain over 2100 pages and more than 4000 illustrations. Among the editors for special departments are Prof. R. O. Doremus, chemistry; Benson J. Lossing, American history; Carroll D. Wright, statistics; Alfred Ayres, mispronunciation; Anton Seidl and W. J. Henderson, music, and Prof. F. A. Marsh, spelling and pronunciation.

HARPER & BROTHERS have nearly ready for publication an "Elementary Latin Dictionary," by Charlton T. Lewis, Ph.D. The work is substantially an abridgment of Dr. Lewis' larger work published about a year ago. Space, however, has been gained by the omission of many detailed references and illustrative citations, and the vocabulary has been extended so as to include not only all words used by the Latin authors most commonly studied in schools, but also those used by Catullus, Tibullus, Propertius, and Tacitus in his larger works.

WM. J. C. DULANY Co., Baltimore, Md., sent out a clever Christmas card to their friends and patrons. It was a stout card, on the left-hand corner of which were stamped in fac-simile a pen and pencil eraser (Faber's best?) and a lead-pencil with sharpened point. The rest of the card bore this sentiment:

WITH THE SEASON'S GREETING,
This Pencil and Rubber I send you, old friend,
With instructions for use, to which please attend.
When your thoughts are of me, and they're cheerful and pleasant,
Please Pencil them down, and they'll always be present.
And if of my friendship you've ever a doubt
Let the thought be at once and forever Rubbed out.

HUNT & EATON publish "Scripture Selections for Daily Reading," prepared by Rev. Jesse L. Hurlburt, D.D., upon a new plan, namely, to give a reading for each day in the year and to complete the Bible in a year; selecting the most appropriate portions, well suited in length and subject, for private devotion, family worship or the public service. The first month's readings are from Genesis, the second from the gospels, alternating each month between the Old and New Testaments. They are arranged, as far as practicable, in chronological order, interspersed with selections from the Psalms. The print is large and clear.

T. FISHER UNWIN will publish shortly a book on "Chess for Beginners," by R. B. Swinton.

HART & Co., Toronto (Canada), have just published a new book of verse by Mrs. S. Frances Harrison ("Seranus"), author of "Crowded Out."

WM. HEINEMANN, London, will issue at once Mr. Hall Caine's much-discussed play "Mahomet." The public will therefore have an opportunity of judging the propriety of a work upon this subject being presented on the stage.

LONGMANS & Co. propose to follow the example of Macmillan & Co., in publishing some of their important books at net prices. They will publish early in the new year a novel about early Christianity by Archdeacon Farrar, entitled "Darkness and Dawn."

THE lectures on Egyptology recently delivered in America by Miss Amelia B. Edwards will shortly be published with considerable additional matter and many illustrations. The book will be issued simultaneously in England and in the United States.

BURNS & OATES, London, have in press a collection of documents on the English Catholics who suffered death under Elizabeth and James. The papers are drawn from various sources—the Public Record Office, the Westminster and Stonyhurst archives, and elsewhere. The book is edited by Father Pollen, and Father John Morris contributes a preface.

H. WELTER, Rue Bonaparte, 59, Paris, has ready "The Discovery of North America," a critical and documentary investigation, with an essay on the early cartography of the new world and account of two hundred and fifty ancient maps and globes, existing or lost, by Henry Harris, the author of the "Bibliotheca Americana Vetusissima." The work is complete in one large 4to volume of about 600 pages, with 25 fac-similes of ancient charts and globes, reduced to the size of the book. The work will be printed for subscribers only, and will not in any case exceed 350 copies. Subscriptions should be sent before January 31, 1891, to the publisher. Mr. Welter also issues "Tresor de chronologie, d'histoire et de géographie," by Le Comte de Mas Latrie.

NOTES ON CATALOGUES.

Catalogues of New and Second-Hand Books.—A. Baxendine, 10 St. Giles St., Edinburgh, Clearance Catalogue. (No. 30, 1123 titles.)—Benziger Bros., 36 Barclay St., N.
